

Centrifuge Tubes

New from Sterilin an extended range of Polypropylene centrifuge tubes with increased speed capability, and the choice of DNase, RNase and human DNA free to service the growing molecular biology market.

Sterilin Centrifuge Tubes

To meet the demands of technicians and scientists utilising centrifugation, we now provide two new and improved centrifuge tube ranges, as detailed below.

Standard Range

- Manufactured from high clarity polypropylene - assures excellent transparency and chemical resistance
- High rcf values; 12,000 x g for the 15ml and 50ml conical base and 6000 x g for the 50ml self standing tube, ensuring suitability for the most demanding of applications
- Clear crisp printed graduations and a writing panel for ease of use by the end user
- Leak free performance
- Supplied in re-sealable shelf pack or recyclable rack for added convenience
- Easy to write on flat cap
- Assured sterility by gamma irradiation

Premium Range

All of the above features are applicable with the addition of the following:

- Non-pyrogenic to 0.5Eu/ml
- RNase, DNase and human DNA free - an important requirement in molecular applications

Caution

When centrifuging specimens suspected of being infectious or any other potentially hazardous materials, approved safety containment systems should be used. Please contact your centrifuge manufacturer for appropriate recommendations.

Speed

To determine the speed (RPM) at which the maximum RCF is achieved for your rotor, please consult your centrifuge manufacturer's specifications and a nonogram table.
